DEAD ON ARRIVAL

A suspicious death has occurred on the 5.30pm arrival into Tiverton Parkway from London Paddington.

A motley collection of passengers are asked to attend the Tiverton Hotel and nervously await the arrival of the police.

What secrets do they wish to keep hidden? Who was the dead man found on the train and what connection did he have to the suspects? Who was responsible for his death?

As the evening progresses the police, in the form of Detective Chief Inspector Charles Appleby, begins his investigation and asks for the help of the other guests in solving the crime.

All the clues will be there to lead to the only possible culprit, but will they be correctly deduced? The Chief Inspector, with the help of the other guests, is determined to get to the truth before the night is out.
